"The problem of woman from a bioso-tality among women and children in countries where industrial life has pressed mothers into its ranks. A per-fect woman should be a chief d'oeuvre ly grace and the love which men bear a beautiful woman have perhaps been the origin of paternal love and of all the other sweet tender feelings of which the ly grace and the love which men bear a beautiful woman have perhaps been the male is capable. Grace is the acsthetic side of weakness. Woman more than man, enjoys all the benefits of civilization, which nevertheless have been in great part acquired by him alone. "Man labors and toils to-day just as he did of old, and there is nothing abnormal in this fact, for it is his positive duty. What advantage, then, can be gained by participating in man's struggle for existence, when woman has only to wait until he places these benefits at her feet? I cannot understand why the question of woman suffrage should so excite public opinion. It is entirely profitless to her. If her hus-band strains every nerve already to provide her with all the luxuries of life, ne certainly will not be lax in defending those interests which are identical with those of his family."

Baltimore, sent to Editor A. Nevin Pomeroy, of Chambersburg, Pa. Her husband, Dr. King, is now in the penitentiary for having too many wives. Mrs. King says:

First comes Katie, a bride of a night; then M. Louise, about 10 years from day of marriage to day of granting divorce; both of these are in Pennsylva-nia, still living. Next came Annie, the one you claimed as his first; she be-longs to Maryland, and had nine years with the doctor. Then came Elizabeth, weeks. Next was Clara, of Virginia, whose time was also only a few and 15 days under his roof, my money then being exhausted. Then Laura, who also had a brief time of it."

Work Makes Women Ugly. ciological point of view" is treated by Signor G. Ferrero in the current number of the Monist. "The essential condition of feminine existence," which he desires to analyze in his paper, is that which he names "the Law of Non-Labor." "As it is a natural law that the man must labor and struggle to live, so it is a natural law that the woman should neither labor nor struggle for her existence. Biology clearly shows us that the physiological prosperity of species depends on the division of labor between the sexes, for in exact ratio to this is the duration of life." Marriage, as found among the higher animals, is "a perfect form of the division of labor and mutual co-operation of the sexes."
During hatching time the male bird does all the providing for his brooding mate. At other times her functions in seeking food are merely auxiliary. Similarly with the lion and the hyena. The fearful toil which falls to the sav-age woman, the writer pronounces to be "merely a passing phase, a very dangerous aberration, produced by the excessive selfishness of man, which does not and cannot last long." He rehave remained in a savage state and marks that the races in which it is found have made scarcely any progress." In civilized nations female toil is not necessary for the production of the wealth needed for humanity. "Man alone could do this. Woman labor only tends to lower the marketable value of male labor; for while woman is working in the factories there are everywhere, and especially in Europe, crowds of men vainly seeking employment to whom the cossetion. ing employment, to whom the cessation of work is an oft-recurrent and terrible evil. This shows that even from a sociological point of view, female labor is a pathological phenomenon. "Statistics show an increase of mor-fect woman should be a chief d'oeuvre of grace and refinement, and to this end she must be exempt from toil. The working woman grows ugly and loses fertilizer factory and wharf foot Duke st.

HEART DISEASE! Fluttering, No Appetite, Could Not

Sleep, Wind on Stomach. "For a long time I had a terrible pain at my heart, which fluttered almost incessantly. I had no appetite and could not sleep. I would be compelled to sit up in bed and belch gas from my stomach until I thought that every minute would be my last that every minute would be my last. There was a feelling of oppression about my heart, and I was afraid to draw a full breath. I could not sweep a room without resting. My hus-band induced me to try

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and am happy to say it has cured me. I now have a splendid appetite and sleep well. Its effect was truly marvelous."
